Supporting Information to:

Cardiovascular Effects of 14-Deoxy-11,12-didehydroandrographolide and Andrographis paniculata Extracts

Nattaporn Yoopan¹,³
Piengpen Thisoda¹,³
Nuchanart Rangkadiikok³
Somjed Sahasitiwat¹,³
Nanthanit Pholphana³
Somsak Ruchirawat⁴
Jutamaad Satayavivad¹,²,³,*

Affiliation

¹ Toxicology Graduate Programme, Faculty of Science, Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand
² Department of Pharmacology, Faculty of Science, Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand
³ Laboratory of Pharmacology, Chulabhorn Research Institute (CRI), Bangkok, Thailand
⁴ Laboratory of Medicinal Chemistry, Chulabhorn Research Institute (CRI), Bangkok, Thailand

Correspondence

Dr. Jutamaad Satayavivad
Laboratory of Pharmacology
Chulabhorn Research Institute
Vipavadee-Rangsit Highway
Laksi
Bangkok 10210
Thailand
Phone: +66-2-5740622 ext. 3917
Fax: +66-2-5742027
E-mail: jutamaad@cri.or.th
Fig. 1S HPLC fingerprints of the active compounds present in the aqueous extracts of A. paniculata, (A) Extract A, fresh plant material; (B) Extract B and (C) Extract C, old plant material.