

Erratum

In No. 2, Vol. 24, pp. 107–110 we published an article entitled “Occurrence of Andermann syndrome out of French Canada – Agenesis of the corpus callosum with neuronopathy” by E. Hauser et al. Dr. Harvey B. Sarnat, Seattle, USA, was now so kind to alert us to the semantical error that “out of French Canada” should, correctly, have been altered into “outside French Canada”, thereby conferring the precise meaning that the patient reported was not observed within French Canada. Of course the fault lies with the editor who, Dr. Sarnat suggested, might have gathered the correct meaning by thinking of the well known film “Out of Africa”, meaning “A story from within Africa”, starring Robert Redford and Meryl Streep. Incidentally the German title of this film was “Jenseits von Afrika” (literally: Beyond Africa) indicating outside Africa rather than within. The editor has learned from this anecdote how treacherous it may be to rely on film titles for one’s own education and apologizes.
